Crumly Chapel Cemetery Booklet
1858 to April 25, 1966
Compiled by Robert S. Glasgow, Jr.

Acknowledgment

The compiler of the information set out in this little booklet would be indeed derelict and ungrateful if he did not express his gratitude to the many persons who have given him of their time and energy to make possible assembling and processing the items set out herein. Especial thanks are due Mr. and Mrs. William Harris and Mrs. Mattie Lois Harden for their help in getting the data from the markers of the cemetery, to the compiler's wife, Mrs. Thelma T. Glasgow, for doing most of the typing and arranging, to Mr. George Horne for continued advice and assistance in preparing for publication, and to the staff of Action Printing Company for forbearance and understanding during the actual printing and binding operations.

This being a project of the Men's Club of Crumly Chapel Methodist Church, due credit is to be given the officers and members of that club for assuring their support and backing, especially in the sale and distribution of the completed product, thus defraying the actual costs of printing.

Late in the 1850's several families from South Carolina had migrated, via Georgia, westwardly and settled a few miles northwest of the Hawkins' Plantation in Jefferson County, Alabama. Among these pioneers were certain members of the Miller, Wheeler, Young, Echols, Crumly (spelled Crumley by some), Bivens, Glasgow, and Regan families. Many had lived in Georgia for years before deciding to go farther west. Some were Georgia-born, while others were native South Carolinians. Most were of Scotch-Irish or "Dutch" ancestry. The Varnon family already was in Alabama, but some members moved from the Pinson valley area to the new community. Robert Crumly, a son of Benjamin Crumley, and a class leader in the Methodist Episcopal Church South, was among the newcomers. Shortly after arriving in this verdant land, Robert Crumly began encouraging worship services in the homes of the new settlers, pending erection of a church building.

In 1858 the young son of Oliver Shoemaker and his wife, Polly Regan, was burned severely and died. The grief stricken parents buried their beloved child on a choice spot of their recently acquired land and immediately set aside the surrounding area for use as a cemetery. Thus Thomas Jefferson Shoemaker became the first person buried in what later became known as Crumly Chapel Cemetery, now an integral part of the Methodist congregation's property, the church being formally organized the next year.

While this little booklet merely is an attempt to preserve for posterity some of the inscriptions as to names and dates birth and death of those in the cemetery as of April 25, 1966, for time certainly will render many of the stones less readable, the progress and history of the church cannot be separated from that of the cemetery, for they are inextricably intertwined. The same is true of the community, many details of early life in the area having been treated in the works of Mrs. Ida Crumly Varnon and Miss Bennie Catherine Mellown.

The passage of time has wrought many changes, however, and the small community of friends and relatives now has expanded to include many worthy citizens whose ancestry is in other areas, and the one small church which once met the needs of the people has been supplemented by some eight or ten other churches, including many different denominations. While other cemeteries serve the families of many newcomers, Crumly Chapel Cemetery continues to be the last resting place of persons of many backgrounds and faiths, although the Methodist tradition still is dominant.

Traditionally, the first Sunday in May of each year is homecoming, "Decoration", or Memorial Day both at the church and the cemetery. It is on this day that those who have traveled to far places and those who have been too busy to return to their old community put aside the many cares and worries attendant to Twentieth Century living and come back to honor their loved ones and renew friendships which all too often have been neglected through the years. It is then that crowds gather on the grounds and the buzz of eager conversations swell on the afternoon breeze and waft slowly across the green blanket spread so gently over the last beds of His faithful servants by an omniscient Father, who even today continues to look down from His throne and beckon willful man to seek His way.

May the spirit of Crumly Chapel continue to live in the hearts and minds of the descendants of the faithful, and peace and good will come to and remain with those who today carry on in the pathways of the pioneers.
